U.S. PRESIDENT'S SUMMER HOME.

ISLAND RETREAT IN WISCONSIN.

WORK STILL GOES ON.

Even in the choosing of a place in which to spend his summer holidays the President of the United States is the prisoner of his office. He is bound to remember that he is not only par excellence the servant of the people, but also the leader of his party and an influence on the voting. And so, when it was announced that Mr. Coolidge was to spend the summer in Wisconsin, people think first not of what the charm of Wisconsin is, but of the reasons why he picked out that one State in preference to all the other 47.

It is the second year in succession that Mr. Coolidge has gone out into the agricultural West for his vacation, and it is the second year in succession that agricultural discontent has seemed to the Republican Party, of which he is the leader, the principal element of danger in the November elections. Between these two facts there is more than mere coincidence. Fortunately for the President, however, that discontented West is far from being a region only of flat prairies, gladdening to the eye of the farmer but monotonous and depressing to an overworked recreation-seeking Chief Executive. It has, besides the prairies, wide areas of rolling, wooded country threaded with brooks and shaded rivers and dotted all over with beautiful lakes. It is in some of the finest of this country, on an island all his own, in the middle of the Brule River, in North-west Wisconsin, that the President is to spend his summer.

The lodge, which is the sole habitation on the island, is a low structure built of birch logs. It is by no means, however, a rude or unpretentious hunting cabin, but a spacious dwelling containing many wide living rooms and a dozen bedrooms, the whole furnished with that kind of simplicity which only a millionaire like its owner, Mr. Henry Clay Pierce, can afford. It is connected with the mainland by a rustic bridge. Around the lodge there are flower-beds and small stretches of lawn and many trees, trim and ordered for all the wilderness about.

On the mainland, near by, yet still out of sight or sound of Cedar Island Lodge, as the place is called, are servants' quarters and garages and other necessary buildings, including greenhouses and a powerhouse for generating electricity. The 12 house servants who are to be taken from Washington, ten Street Service men, and most of the 80 soldiers who will guard the President from unwelcome intruders, will live here. Not so near, but probably at Nebagamon, ten miles away, will be the two-score newspaper correspondents, whose duty it will be to publish to the world Mr. Coolidge's luck at fishing and, once in a way, if luck sends more momentous facts, like the "I do not choose to run" announcement with which the President startled the country at the end of last year's vacation.

Plans For Work.

Within a few miles of the lodge is the Brule River Forest Park, a State reservation of 640 acres, in which have been planted 400,000 young trees to supplement the vigorous second growth to pine and hemlock and fir balsam with which the country abounds. The intermediate country and almost all the other country round about is forest, uncleared except for lumber trails made long ago and now mostly overgrown. Here and there have been left clumps of old trees, but most of the trees are second growth, generally jack pines. The streams are said to teem with trout and the lakes with bass and larger game-fish and there are beaver-ponds, and deer run wild in the woods. Fishing and walking are said to be the President's sole recreations; he will have his fill of both, whenever he chooses, and this time, if rumour is right, there will be no reprehensible eye to note whether he uses a Silver Doctor or worms to lure the elusive trout into his creel.

Because there is no rest for a President, there is to be an "executive mansion" set up in Superior, where the boundaries of Wisconsin and Minnesota meet, 40 miles from the lodge. Mr. Coolidge will go back and forth by motor-car over these 40 miles once a day, for a part of the summer, at least, although it is hoped that as the season advances it will not be necessary to make the trip more often than once or twice (Continued on next column).

ROAD MAKING IN CHEKIANG.

LIZZIE "THE WHEEL-BARROW."

CHANGSHA, July 18th.

The North China Daily News gives the following interesting account of the building of a motor road through Chekiang. From the description given by their correspondent it does not appear that the new road is one which would meet with the approval of the lecturer who a short while ago was preaching the gospel of good roads to the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders.

Changsha is reputed to interest in the new motor road between here and Yunnan. Work has been commenced at both ends and though for a while pick and shovel experts were lacking, the 30-cent a day bait not drawing, now for 15 or 20 li out there are many hundreds of men employed and the work is going ahead with surprising speed. The city wall is being sacrificed to provide the route round the city and stones for embankments. Human nature delights in pulling down and occasionally there is a shout of warning and all jump first and look after as a stone rolls down and then a burst of laughter as someone who has jumped wrong misses a crashed leg by a hair's breadth. It is said that the Motor Company will run their first trip after the new year.

Already the many thousands of barrows trading between the two cities have had their warning to depart from the new road which follows the course of the old, for Lizzie is to have no impediment in her cross-country dash. One wonders how long an earth road is going to stand up to Lizzie's treatment and if her ladyship will do as often happens in such ventures, put up at a halfway inn for the night, leaving her respected suitors to the mercy of impatient chair-bearers and coolies who are quick to appreciate the benefits bestowed upon them by the "new road" and a defaulting Lizzie.

Prosperity Follows Peace.

Prosperity is gradually returning with peaceful conditions and the Communist influence which a few months ago could be felt as coming from neighbouring provinces is fast disappearing. There are few soldiers about and the Provincial Protection Corps are an orderly well-dressed set of men.

MONKEY GOES NEXT DOOR.

ANNOYED NEIGHBOUR APPLIES FOR A SUMMONS.

A man surprised the Kingston-on-Thames Borough Bench when he stepped into the box and said, amid laughter, "I want a summons against a monkey, please." Asked to explain, the man alleged that his next-door neighbour kept a monkey which frightened his wife. The monkey, he said, got into the house when a window was left open, ate biscuits from barrels, and played tricks. The animal had bitten; on the leg, an elderly lady who was needleworking, and had jumped on another woman's head. Applicant asked if something could not be done to abate the nuisance.

The Clerk (Mr. G. Washington Fox) said the legal position was that the owner of the monkey must pay for any damage which the animal did. Damages could be recovered in the County Court. The magistrates decided to send a warrant officer to give a warning to the owner of the monkey.

a week. On Sundays Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will attend church services at Lake Nebagamon Congregational Church, ten miles away from their temporary home.

By a curious chance the invitation to go to Wisconsin this summer was extended to Mr. Coolidge by a man who, but for one of those unforeseen incidents which upset the best-laid schemes, might himself have been President now. This was former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot. At the 1920 Republican National Convention those who nominated Mr. Warren Harding for President had arranged that the nomination for Vice-President should go to Senator Lenroot, but, in the confusion after the Harding nomination had gone through, the convention was "stamped" by a person of no political importance whatever, for Mr. Coolidge. As is well known, Mr. Harding died in office and was succeeded by Mr. Coolidge, who, in accordance with well-established tradition, was nominated (and elected) on his own account for the ensuing term of office. —Times.

MRS. PACE'S ACQUITTAL, ASTONISHING SCENES.

CHEERS FOR PRISONER AND HER COUNSEL.

LONDON, July 7th.
One of the most astonishing
judicial dramas of recent years, says the Daily Express, ended at Gloucester when, at the close of the case for the prosecution,
Mr. Justice Horridge directed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty" in favour of Mrs.
Beatrice Pace, thirty-six years of age, who was accused of the murder of her husband by ar-senical poisoning.

"I am of the opinion that it would not be safe to ask the jury to find a verdict of guilty on the evidence," said the judge.

There were amazing scenes of enthusiasm outside the Shire Hall in Gloucester, where the trial was held, when the result was known.
Cheering crowds awaited the woman who was arrested on May 22nd after a coroner's jury had returned a verdict that her husband died on January 10th from arsenical poisoning administered by his wife.

The conduct of the coroner who held the inquest, Mr. Maurice F.
Carter, and the methods of the police who investigated the affair
are to be discussed in the House of Commons.

The inquest was adjourned on fourteen occasions. Yesterday was the fourth day of the trial.

The Homeward Journey.

Mrs. Beatrice Pace is back in her home town to-night after her triumphant acquittal at the Gloucester Assizes of the charge of murdering her husband.

She is with her family, staying at a little hotel kept by friends in the Market-square of Coleford.
Outside the house there has been for several hours a constant and persistent demonstration by crowds of local people, all of whom know her and are her neighbours. They keep cheering and cheering again,
calling out her name and messages of good luck.

Kisses To The Crowd.

Every now and again Mrs. Pace shows herself at an upper window,
her face flushed with excitement and with smiles that are so near tears. She waves back to the people, kisses her hand to them,
and calls down, "Thank you.
Thank you so much. I am so glad to be home with my babies."

This reception of the Coleford widow is the climax of a day of extraordinary sensations and frantic scenes, first in Gloucester, then on the road through the Forest of Dean, and finally at Coleford.

The end of the trial came with dramatic suddenness.

The case for the prosecution was finished by the luncheon adjournment, and immediately on the resumption Mr. Norman Birkett, K.C., rose in a hushed court and submitted to Mr. Justice Horridge his legal argument, that there was no case to go to the jury.

Mr. Birkett pointed out first that there was no evidence of any administration of poison to Harry Pace, the dead man, and, secondly,
that there was no evidence of possession by Mrs. Pace of poison.

Quickly the judge intimated that he was against the point that there was no evidence for the jury.
Thereupon Mr. Norman Birkett
submitted that there was not sufficient evidence; that the whole of the Crown case was based on guess-work and suspicion.

Mr. Justice Horridge turned to the Solicitor-General, Sir Boyd Merriman, appearing for the Crown, and asked if he thought that in a case with such serious issues the evidence warranted the Crown asking for a conviction.

Promptly the Solicitor-General saw the current of reasoning in the judge's remarks. He said quite openly that he was not prepared to press the case.

"In my opinion," said the judge,
as he turned to the jury, "it would not be safe to ask any jury to find a verdict of guilty on the evidence
you have heard. I shall advise you to return a verdict of not guilty."

Mrs. Pace, sitting in the dock between her wardress guards, searcely seemed to realise what was happening. The jury rose. They were asked the ordinary question:
"Are you agreed on your verdict—
what is your verdict?"

"Not guilty," said the foreman.
Still the woman sat motionless,
and it was not until the doctor,
who was the medical adviser for the defence, leant across, caught her hand and said, "You're free,"
that she rose.

"A quick message had taken the news to the crowds blocking every way to the Shire Hall. In the court we heard the big roar of cheers from outside. The judge bowed to the bar and withdrew into his curtained room, and then the whole decorum of the court went to pieces.

People stood on their seats, clapping and shouting. Women waved their handkerchiefs to Mrs. Pace and began climbing over the benches to reach her. She was a free woman, but she had to escape from the dock by the way of a prisoner into the cells.

SHANGHAI WEDDING. JUDGE KING AND MISS WAUGH.

A very quiet wedding took place
last Tuesday morning in Holy Trinity Cathedral, Shanghai, when Judge G. W. King, O.B.E., Assistant Judge of H.M. Supreme Court, son of the late Mr. Alfred King, J.P.V.D., was married to Miss Annie Muriel Waugh. Miss Waugh is the daughter of Mr. Percival Waugh of Edinburgh, and,

after ten years' service, has just left the Colonial Service in Penang,
where she was principal of the Government School for Girls. Miss Waugh accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Waugh, of Ipoh, arrived in Shanghai on Sunday by the P. & O. s.s. Rajputana, and since her arrival has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mossop.

The civil ceremony took place in H.M. Consulate, Shanghai, at 10.30 a.m. before Mr. C. F. Garstin, and was followed immediately by the service at Holy Trinity Cathedral,
at which the Very Rev. Dean A.
C. S. Trivett officiated. The bride, who looked very charming in a costume of beige lace, with hat to match, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, was given away by Judge Sir Peter Grain. The matron of honour was Mrs. Waugh, attired in a becoming costume in blue and white, and the duties of best man were undertaken by Mr.
R. E. S. Gregson.

A reception was held after the service at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
A. G. Mossop, 64, Route Potier, when a number of friends were present to congratulate Judge and Mrs. King. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by Judge Sir Peter Grain, and that of the matron of honour by Mr.
Gregson.

It would have been impossible to take her through the hysterical people who were storming the dock.
She was taken from the cells to the grand jury room, and there held a little reception.

Mr. Norman Birkett came to her and Mr. Purcell, M.P., who had raised the fund for her defence.
She told them both now grateful
she was, and then she turned away and said, "May I see my children?"

Dorothy, the eldest girl, who had been waiting in the vestibule to the court with Doris, the younger daughter, went to her mother, and there was a happy reunion of tears and smiles.

Double Police Cordon.

It was more than an hour before
Mrs. Pace could be safely taken from the Shire Hall. Mounted police rode and cleared a space for her motor-car before the entrance.
A double cordon of police on foot forced the crowd back, and, with her children and her friends, the acquitted widow was driven away with a trotting escort of mounted police.

Many people were knocked down
and some slightly injured in the hurry-burly press to try to see her.
The whole of the main street in front of the Shire Hall was impassable to traffic.

One of the most extraordinary scenes was when Mr. Birkett left the court. The crowd made a way for him and cheered him with the utmost enthusiasm. He was almost flabbergasted at his reception, and all he could do was to walk along through this human avenue raising his hat and bowing.

The counsel who had appeared for the Crown went from the court
by the back way, and escaped unnoticed. There was some boing when Elton Pace and his brother, who had been witnesses against their sister-in-law, left the court,
but the police managed to get them to a waiting motor-car without much difficulty.

Triumphal Journey.

On the way to Coleford the motor-car in which Mrs. Pace drove was greeted at every village.
Women and children and men as well came to their garden gates to cheer her passing. Her journey was a triumphal procession.

"It is hard to realise it is all over," said Mrs. Pace in an interview. "I always knew I should be acquitted, but the strain has naturally been tremendous."

"There was one incident at the beginning of the trial which lies in my memory. That is when the clerk of the court said to the jury
in his charge that I had put myself on God and my country. I knew that I was all right from that moment."

"Terrible."

"Of course, it has been terrible sitting in the court day after day and hearing all this evidence. I knew this morning from my solicitor that Mr. Birkett was to submit that there was no case, but I was told that if this submission was not accepted by the judge I should then go into the witness-box, and I had been steeling myself for that ordeal throughout the day."

"This I can say, that since my arrest all the police and prison officials and every one with whom I have come in contact have been exceptionally kind. The way the people greeted me each day when I drove from the prison to the court heartened me very much."

The first thing Mrs. Pace asked for when she was back in Coleford was for her baby, Jean, who is less than a year old.

ATTACK ON EUROPEAN CHILDREN.

TERRIBLE STORY FROM KULING.CHINESE MAGISTRATE'S INDIGNATION.

A terrible story of the assault made by a Chinese policeman on two European children, the daughters of a Missionary at Kuling, appears in the Hankow Herald of the 16th July. So far no confirmation has been obtainable. According to this account two small foreign girls, daughters of a missionary spending
the summer at Kuling, were attacked by a Chinese policeman on Sunday morning in the West Valley of Kuling. One girl, aged 10, is said to be in a serious condition.

The two were playing near their home when the policeman approached, and spoke to them in Chinese, which they understood.
According to the children, the policeman enticed them into a field near by, telling them that pretty flowers were to be seen, as well as a number of mushrooms growing.

The smaller girl ran off into the hillside, while the policeman led the elder in another direction. The younger came back in a few minutes, wondering where the other had got to. The policeman then grabbed her, but the elder sister ran to her father's home.

Father Seizes Assaultant.

The parents rushed to the aid of the child, and caught the assailant.
He started to lead him to the Ku-ling Estate office, and had taken him about a half a mile when the captive suddenly wriggled loose, leaving his coat in the father's hands.

The case was immediately reported to the police, but it was impossible to find out the name of the assailant, the magistrate asserting that he did not know it. The police of Kuling are not numbered, as police are almost everywhere else in the world, and despite the fact that persistent requests that they be numbered have been made.

"Why didn't you kill the man?"
the Chinese magistrate is said to have asked of the father when the latter explained the escape of the assailant.

The magistrate promised that if caught, the policeman would be immediately executed. However, it was some time before a posse was sent out after him.

A mission doctor, it is said, who resides with the family, examined the two children and verified that they had been attacked.

A few days before this, a policeman had knocked at the door of the Chinese Inland Mission bungalow, lot 42, and demanded $100. He threatened to arrest the occupants of the house if the money was not forthcoming. However, the money was not forthcoming and a complaint was forwarded to the Magistrate.

BUFFALO AND PANTHER.

FATAL ATTEMPT TO MAKE CINEMA FILM.

Mr. Guy, the well-known manager of the Federal Dispensary, Kuala Lumpur, who shared with Mr. G. Cullen the adventure of the Pala Temple Affair in 1911, was continually in quest of new adventures. The idea occurred to him that it would be both interesting and profitable if he could stage a fight between a black panther and a buffalo and have the fight filmed
by a cinematograph operator.

Probably the idea came to him by hearing that a fine black panther had been captured in Kelantan where his friend Mr. Cullen was then Chief Police Officer.

As a preliminary he got in touch with a cinematograph operator willing to undertake the job and taking the apparatus and operator with him proceeded to Kota Bahru. Here a likely looking buffalo was obtained and arrangements made for the use of the dressed jail yard. A platform was built for the machine and operator on top of the jail yard wall and when the preparations had been completed the buffalo and panther were introduced in turn into the yard. To Mr. Guy's great disgust they did not rush at each other at once and engage in a life and death struggle as he expected.

Instead, the buffalo stood sullen
but watchful in a corner while the panther slunk round the yard.

Suddenly the panther caught sight of the platform on which the cinema machine stood and instantly sprang for it. It was just within reach and clawing wildly the panther dragged himself up on the platform and in a second was over the wall and away.

The panther ran towards the town and was followed at once by Mr. Guy and the cinema operator. Mr. Guy was the first to come up with the beast
which was puzzled at finding himself in strange surroundings. Mr.
Guy fired at once at close range
and wounded the panther which immediately turned and sprang at him.

Mr. Guy fell with the panther on top of him tearing him with his claws. Mr. Guy struggled ineffec-tually to beat off the panther and was still struggling when the cinema operator came rushing to the spot.

The cinema operator
fired two shots in rapid succession
and killed the panther, but unfortunately Mr. Guy was hit also and what with the injuries inflicted by the panther and the effects of the

BOXER INDEMNITY.

EFFORT TO AID HONG KONG UNIVERSITY.

OPINION AT HOME.

Members of Parliament interest in questions affecting China have been conferring with a view to getting some of the accumulated funds
of the Boxer Indemnity liberated
for the benefit of Hong Kong University without waiting for legislation necessary to deal with the whole capital sum, writes the political correspondent of the London Morning Post.

It will be remembered that the British Government surrendered its share of the indemnity with the object of devoting it to educational purposes for the benefit of the Chinese and for the promotion of good relationship with this country.

Owing, however, to the disturbed
state of China, distribution has been impossible and a large capital sum has accumulated. The object of these members is to get some of the money paid over to the Hong Kong University almost immediately.

It is argued that such a course would strengthen the feelings of friendship toward Great Britain
that are so marked in Hong Kong and the Canton area generally; and in other ways would tend to promote British interests. The movement, says the correspondent, has the warm approval of the English element in Hong Kong; and an early endeavour will be made to induce the Foreign Office to take the subject into favourable consideration.

SHANGHAI'S TRADE.

CUSTOMS REPORT FOR 1927.

DECREASE COMPARED WITH PREVIOUS YEAR.

BETTER THAN 1925.

Mr. F. W. Maze, Commissioner of Customs at Shanghai, in his review of the trade of the Port during 1927 says:

The fact that Shanghai has, on the whole, enjoyed tranquillity
since the first quarter of the year is undoubtedly due in great measure to the moderate attitude of the Southern generals who have controlled the neighbourhood,
though the moral support afforded
by the presence of many thousands of foreign troops can hardly be exaggerated. A striking proof of the genuine desire on the part of those in power to extirpate the forces of unrest was shown by the expulsion in December of the staff of the Soviet Consulate as a sequel to the abortive coup d'état endeavored by "Red" elements at Canton. A vigorous campaign was moreover undertaken, immediately upon the arrival of the Nationalist forces in March, against the up-holders of mob rule, which had inflicted incalculable havoc upon the Wu-Han cities. The city municipality was, at once reorganized and sundry improvements were instituted, notably the abolition of the official sale of lotteries.

In view of the character of the disturbances which affected Central and East China during the early part of the year, it was to be expected that foreign goods would suffer more severely than any other branch of trade. The value of the total importations from abroad in 1927 came to 455 million taels, a decrease of 142 millions, but still 23 millions ahead of 1925, another year of exceptional embarrassment for the trade of China. Nearly one-half of the decline comes under the heading of piece goods; metals
also were in poor demand, and the success of the native crops undermined the prominent position established in recent years by foreign grain. Artificial silk alone gave real promise of future vigour, notwithstanding the disadvantages shared by all articles of commerce and the unusually rich harvest of silk cocoons. The import duty collection fell 61 million taels, accounting for 94 per cent. of the whole decrease in revenue; and it is in the circumstances striking, as a proof of the optimistic views held by foreign merchants, that no appreciable diminution took place in the number of ocean steamers entered and cleared at Shanghai. Indeed, under the Dutch, French, German, and Swedish flags there is an actual increase to record, both in numbers and in tonnage, while the Chinese flag is rapidly recovering its position on the high seas.

Far less serious is the decrease in exports of native produce, which fell 11 million taels in value, being thus 78 million taels in advance of 1925. In Chinese exports to foreign countries and Hong Kong
there is indeed an increase of 16 million taels to record, the adverse balance being entirely occasioned
by the disruption due to the causes indicated above, of domestic commerce. In silk, tea, and skins the year's trade was, on the whole, not unprofitable; other articles of native produce of which there was a plentiful supply were detained in the producing districts
by the disorganization of railway and river traffic, and the measure of success that the export trade attained was wholly due to the uniform excellence of the crops.
The year was free from the extremes of hot weather that were experienced in 1926; heavy rains fell in June, but no extensive floods were reported. The cholera epidemic in the summer was far milder
than in the previous year, the number of cases and deaths reported decreasing by half.

"The net value of the year's trade,
import and export, amounts to 989 million taels, against 972 millions in 1926 and 755 millions in 1925.
This result is decidedly better than anyone was prepared to predict in the early months of the year.

The value of Shanghai's trade,
imports and exports for the past ten years is shown in the following table:

Year	Value (Million Taels)
1918	627,094,382
1919	768,006,155
1920	840,968,438
1921	927,477,690
1922	959,718,490
1923	1,105,117,246
1924	1,183,543,359
1925	1,181,077,647
1926	1,468,863,484
1927	1,265,963,393

TWENTY PER CENT.

H.K. AMUSEMENTS RECORD
YEAR.

RUMOURS OF COMPETITION.

The seventh annual meeting of the Hong Kong Amusements, Ltd., was held on Saturday, Mr. J. H. Back-house presiding; but in contrast to the meetings in film plays,
this one took place on the stage at the Queen's Theatre to the accompaniment of the orchestra rehearsing
for the afternoon performance.
The report was as pleasantly unusual as the surroundings. The Company has passed through another record financial year, a 20 per cent. dividend being declared, and although there are rumours of competition the chairman's speech did not indicate that shareholders need regard this with any anxiety.
After seven years' operations, the Company has paid nearly $150,000
in dividends and placed over $111,000 to reserve funds.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH.

Mr. J. H. Backhouse (Chairman) said:—Owing to the absence of your Chairman, Mr. Noronha, I am privileged to address you today though I would rather be listening to him than speaking for him because I have been away for six months of the year and since Mr. Noronha took the Chairmanship of your Board he has had twelve months of very arduous and at times worrying work for your Company. That his efforts and those of his co-Directors and Managing Directors have been successful, the report before you will show.
You have had the report of your Directors and the statement of accounts together with the auditor's report before you for some seven or eight days and I propose to follow the usual custom and take them as read.

The few remarks I have to make will be very brief as with one or two exceptions no explanations appear necessary.

Change in Policy.

The year's work under review,
1927-28, has witnessed a change in the system to which we formerly carried on the business which is shown in the large amount standing in the account for films and film rights. Some eighteen months ago it was decided after the strong recommendations of the Managing Directors that we should acquire films, in future, for the whole of China and sell or lease our rights for the remainder of China, other than Hong Kong and South China.
This enabled us to obtain a better grade of pictures (we now give the best that are produced) but at the same time this made the responsibility very much greater and had your Directors carried on they would have had to obtain authorization for a further issue of capital because naturally some time must elapse before the cost and profits of these films can be realized and our organization in Shanghai was insufficient to cope with the large amount of business and expense which these entail. Since the balance-sheet was issued we have arranged with certain friends to take over the royalties on these films for North and Central China, and this having been accomplished and satisfactory deposits made, your Directors decided that they would continue to recommend a dividend of 20 per cent. For the amounts standing at the account for films
and film rights we have every expectation of recovering. The result of last year's working has exceeded
the previous year's record and thus makes it the third occasion that we are able to propose the repetition of a dividend of 20 per cent.

Good Prospects.

One other point I must draw your attention to is the item under cash.
Last year we showed a very satisfactory sum of over $110,000 whereas to-day with our increased business
and increased profits we only show about $49,000. The reason of this is naturally on account of the large sum we have invested in films and as I have already explained to you
we have a reasonable hope of converting this figure into cash.

With the increased business that we are doing and the extreme likelihood of the future bringing further extension coupled with the small capitalization of your Company
make it, however, absolutely necessary that the reserve account should have more attention in the future
than it has had in the past and you will note that your Directors have transferred an additional sum of $40,000 to general reserve fund, thus increasing this account to the sum of $89,000. After providing for this together with the necessary legal reserve we are carrying forward nearly $52,000 which is over $10,000 in excess of the figure brought forward from the previous year. In addition to the above appropriations and consequent upon the policy of past years, we have budgeted for a bonus to be paid to the staff of your Company as mentioned in the report. You will I am sure, approve this practical recognition of faithful and arduous services.

Rumours of Competition.

After being in existence for seven years this Company has paid away in dividends, including what we now recommend, nearly $150,000,
and we have placed over $111,000

HEATED SESSION AT PRO- VISIONAL COURT.

COUNSEL AND EXPERTS THREATEN TO LEAVE
COURT.

ALLEGED BULLYING OF WITNESSES.

In the Shanghai Provisional Court last Monday afternoon, the hearing of the case in which Con-stantin Pavlovich Vortovitch, a Russian seaman, is charged with the murder of Reval A. Philipovich, Russian lieutenant of the Chia
Avenue, at 6.50 p.m. on May 27th,
1927, was continued before Judge Hsiung and Mr. C. D. Meinhardt, Senior Consul's Deputy.

After the last hearing the case was adjourned to permit of an investigation being made by mental experts as to accused's mental state, his defence being that, at the time of the offence, he was temporarily insane.

Experts testifying at last Monday's hearing were Dr. Martha D.
Collins, attached to the Margaret Williams Hospital, West Gate, Shanghai, for the prosecution, and
Dr. Robertson, Assistant Health Commissioner of the S.M.C., and Dr. A. Bary.

Dr. Collins gave as her opinion that accused was not insane at the time of the offence, while opposite views were held by the other experts.

There were many heated arguments between Mr. R. T. Bryan Police Prosecutor, and Drs. Robertson and Bary, and Dr. Wilhelm, counsel for the defence. At one stage, Dr. Robertson made an attempt to leave the Court, saying that he objected to being insulted
(the Police Prosecutor having referred to case in the U.S. Court recently when "even experts have different opinions at times.") However, Mr. Meinhardt thought there was no justification for Dr. Robertson leaving the Court and advised him to stay.

Dr. Bary registered indignation
when the Police Prosecutor questioned him regarding his qualifications to put forward an opinion on the accused's mental state, and said that he could not produce any evidence because of the fact that "during the chaos created by the Bolsheviks" he had lost them, but told the Court the various universities and colleges where he had studied, and also produced a large number of letters from various people.

Dr. Wilhelm, counsel for the defence, also threatened to leave the Court, but was dissuaded by the Deputy and resumed his seat.

"You're nothing but a big bully.
You come here and try to bully my witnesses; you bully the police and now you are trying to bully me.
But I won't have it," said the Police Prosecutor, during the hearing.

The accused said that he admitted stabbing the deceased, and told the Court just what he had felt before and after the stabbing affray. He also said that he suffered from fits.
The Court reserved judgment.

to reserves. I think you will agree with me that this is a very good record and there is no doubt that Hong Kong Amusements, Limited,
has a future before it. I wish you to bear in mind, however, that there have been more than rumours of strong competition, and to meet this it may be necessary for your Company, in order to maintain their present position, to go in for very large extensions which will entail
a considerably larger capital than is now possessed and you face the understanding that with a much larger capital it will be more difficult to keep up large dividends.

With these remarks, Gentlemen,
I beg to propose that the Directors'
report and statement of accounts for the twelve months ended March 31st, 1928, be adopted.

Seconders' Speech.

This was seconded by Mr. Lee
In Cheung, who said:—It is easy for any constant shareholder to say that he seconds a report like this with pleasure—a report that taken all in all is the best in the short history of the company for it shows an extraordinary stable position
under present conditions in this part of the world. That is a record of which our Directors and Managing Directors may justly feel proud and on which we should congratulate them and their staff as heartily as we congratulate ourselves. I beg to second the motion from the chair.

No question was put, and the motion was carried unanimously.

Other Business.

The only other business was the re-election of retiring directors and of the auditors. Mr. J. S. Gubbay and Mr. Ma Tsui Chiu were re-elected directors on the proposal of Mr. H. W. Ray seconded by Mr.
R. K. Butler, and Messrs. Linstead
& Davis were re-elected auditors at a fee of $500 per annum on the proposal of Mr. C. E. Backhouse, seconded by Mr. J. E. Noronha.

Dividend warrants are obtainable
to-day.

Present.

Those present were: Messrs. J. H.
Backhouse (Chairman), H. W. Ray
and Lo Kan (managing directors), Ma Tsui Chiu (director), Chas. E.
Rossetti (secretary), and the following shareholders: Messrs. C. E.
Backhouse, R. K. Butler, C. M.
Hendley, Lee In Cheung, J. E.
Noronha.

HONG KONG IMPORTS.

EFFECT OF THE JAPANESE BOYCOTT.

"ENQUIRY MUCH IN EVIDENCE."

The fortnightly Price Current and Market Report issued by the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce on Saturday states:—

COTTON PRICE GOODES AND FANCY
COTTON GOODES.—Further sales of Standard Brocades have been arranged but the quantity booked as very small compared with previous seasons. In new styles of Spring Fancies a nice business has been transacted which, together with other moderately new lines which have been booked fairly heavily,
will tend in the future to materially reduce in quantity the trade in Standard Brocades, thus giving an added interest and wider scope to merchants' interest in the piece-goods business.

Owing to the Japanese Boycott, dealers are willing to clear these goods at best prices obtainable, several lots having been disposed of at very low prices. Enquiry is very much in evidence on cloths suitable to the trade which formerly went through Japanese channels,
but prices and shipments are proving big obstacles. The Cotton market in New York and Liverpool has become increasingly "bullish"
and whatever "bearish" tone was prevailing last week has since entirely disappeared owing to unfavourable weather reports and complaints of boll weevils becoming more numerous.

Another report states:—Further orders in Mercerized Brocades and Lingerie were settled last week.
There has been more enquiry for Grey and White Shirtings following on a good demand from Bangkok. Stocks in these goods are low and prices have improved a little. Clearances are very poor and are often only brought about by constant pressure. Manchester
prices have been somewhat easier,
but offers received are still 8 to 10 per cent. too low.

WOOLLENS.—A few repeat orders have been booked in Black Wool Venetians at practically the same prices as purchases made in the spring.
COTTON YARN.—Market has been very quiet during the interval and no sales have been effected. Quotations are unchanged and purely nominal:—No. 10s, $170-180; No.
12s, $180-195; No. 14s, $195-200;
No. 20s, $205-210. Arrivals: N.H.
Shipments: N.H. Sales: N.H. Un-
sold stocks: 1,500 bales. Bargains:
8,700 hales.

EUROPEAN'S BAD RECORD.

HOUSE OF DETENTION
MAKES HIM LAZY.

A European named F. O. Richards was charged before Major C. Willson on Saturday morning with failing to return to the House of Detention. The defendant complained that he would have a better chance of finding employment if he left the "House," whereas the confinement made him lazy and doing him more harm than good.

Sub-Inspector Elston, however, explained to his Worship that the defendant had a rather bad record.
He became stranded in the Colony in 1925, an "through" charitable institutions he was given a passage back to Europe. Defendant "jumped" his ship at Singapore and he was soon sent back to Singapore. He wandered from that city to Manila
and next appeared at Amoy.
He had also had six convictions
in the local Courts.

The Magistrate sentenced him to six weeks' hard labour.

Raw Cotton.—Nothing doing.

MARKETS.—Only unimportant business has been done this fortnight.
Market is dull and dealers' idea of price is considerably below the rates ruling in the producing centres.

Flour Report.—Stock: American 450,000 bags; Canadian 250,000
bags; Australia 70,000 bags; Shanghai, 5,000 bags; 775,000 bags. Market: There is some demand but only small sales. Quotations:
American Patent, $4.20-4.25 per sack; American Straight, $2.85-3.25 per sack; American Cut off, $2.90-3.00 per sack; Shanghai Flour, $2.85
per sack; Australian No. 1, $3.10-3.45 per sack; Canadian Cut off,
$2.75-3.00 per sack; Canadian Straight, $2.70-2.90 per sack; Canadian Mixture, $2.60 per sack;
Canadian 2nd Clear, $2.50 per sack.

SUNDRIES.—Reported sales: N.H.
Market quiet, but prices are steady.
SUGAR (China, India and Straits Produce).—Reported Sales: Java

DR. CHAO-HSIN CHU SETS OUT.

SHORT VISIT TO NANKING.

KWANGTUNG'S CALL UPON HIS SERVICES.

MAY GO TO TOKYO LATER.

CANTON, July 29th.
Dr. Chao-Hsin Chu, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Nationalist Government and Commissioner for Foreign Affairs of Kwangtung, is leaving Canton today for Nanking to assume his new post. The new Vice-Minister will travel to Hong Kong by the s.s. Kinsan which leaves the city at 4.30 this afternoon. Accompanying him are two of his secretaries, Messrs. Chu Shu Sang and Chen Kai Tai. He carried very little baggage with him, and his departure from Canton was without any formality and even his official colleagues and closest friends were not certain when he would actually leave.

In an interview with our representative on board the s.s. Kinsan immediately before the steamer left for Hong Kong, Dr. Chu said that he will stay in Hong Kong for one day and expects to take either the s.s. President Lincoln or the s.s. Chenoweth, both going to Shanghai on Tuesday.

"I have to go to Nanking," the Vice-Minister said, "to take the oath of office and to conform with the inaugural formalities of assuming the post. Last year I was twice appointed Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs to the Nationalist Government, but I never went to the Capital to complete the formalities. Now that China has a unified Government in fact as well as in name, it is an opportune time for me to proceed to Nanking and offer my services to the country. I am doing this with the utmost alacrity and feel moreover, duty-bound to take the trip. But I shall return to Canton as soon as conditions permit and all the necessary arrangements have been made respecting the duties attached to the post. I feel I should remain in Canton and continue my old work here. The foreign affairs of Kwangtung are of the utmost importance and I have to see that they are properly managed. While in Canton I can, on the one hand, manage the foreign affairs of the Province, and also help with the provincial administration. I can take my share in shaping the foreign policy of the Nationalist Government at Nanking by means of the telegraph."

"When will you be coming back to Canton?"

"I expect that this trip will take a fortnight or so. One week in Nanking is quite sufficient. If times permit, I would like to visit the West Lake for a couple of days."

THE ENTENTE WITH HONG KONG.

Our representative then asked: "You have certainly had a splendid and enviable record as Commissioner for Foreign Affairs of Kwangtung and I think every one, whether he is Chinese or foreigner, will agree to this. But of all the diplomatic acts which you have performed in Canton, which one gave you the most satisfaction?"

"The one that gave me the most satisfaction," the Vice-Minister replied, "was the resumption of the traditionally friendly relations between Hong Kong and Canton. Last year after the Canton visit of Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister at Peking, the strained relationship between England and China began to improve and after Marshal Li Tai Hsin's official visit to Hong Kong and Sir Cecil Clementi's return visit to Canton, the relations between these two great commercial centres in South China became as cordial as ever before. All the ill feeling caused by mutual misunderstanding disappeared as the morning dew before the rising sun. The Hong Kong and Canton merchants were, once more, able to carry on their trade with one another, unhampered and unmolested. I rejoice in the restoration of this happy state of affairs, and I think everybody will agree with me that anything which I did to assist Marshal Li Tai Hsin was for the common good of all."

"Another thing which gave me satisfaction was Great Britain's unconditional return of the old Consulate premises on Pao Street near the famous Flower Pagoda. In this connection, I greatly appreciated the generous assistance rendered by Mr. Brennan, the British Consul-General at Canton. Had it not been for him, this would probably not have been done. As it is, it was one of the best things performed within the past score of years."

FRENCH GOVERNMENT'S FRIENDLINESS.

"I am also happy that the French Government is adopting an equally friendly attitude towards the Canton Government, and is prepared, too, to give back to the Chinese Government its old leased Consulate on Wai Oi Road. The size of the two Consulates is about the same, and both are magnificent buildings situated in the centre of the City. The French Government has decided to return its old Canton Consulate grounds to the Chinese authorities. At present the only thing that still keeps the French Foreign Office from immediately handing the Consulate back to us is that it has not as yet received a reply from the Department of State Property. This is only a matter of form. When that is done, the French Consul, M. Andre Danjou, and I will sign the necessary documents for the formal rendition of the property. At any rate the rendition of the old French Consulate is an accomplished fact. I am grateful to be able to tell you that M. Danjou has been helping me unreservedly in this matter, for which I am most thankful. From now on, the Sino-French relations will, like the Sino-British relations, be on a firm and cordial basis."

SEVERAL OUTSTANDING PROBLEMS.

"Apart from all this, there were many Sino-British problems which have been satisfactorily solved between Consul-General Brennan and myself and between the Hong Kong officials and myself, and others that are in course of solution. As all these problems are being satisfactorily solved, I have not the slightest doubt that the future of Canton is bright indeed."

THE POST AT TOKYO.

Our correspondent again asked: "I understand that you were to be appointed Ambassador to Japan and that you have provisionally accepted the offer. How about that post?"

"I have received a telegram from the Nationalist Government and from Dr. C. T. Wang, who are still determined to appoint me to that post. And I am glad to accept that job, because it is fraught with very vital diplomatic problems. To me there is no other diplomatic post of an importance equal to that one, and I can serve my country no better than by accepting their offer and going to Tokyo. But I don't yet know when I can go. After my trip to Nanking I have determined to return to Canton and continue to serve my native province and my aged mother."

"Now that you are leaving for Nanking," our correspondent again asked, "who will take charge of your work at the Canton Foreign Office during your temporary absence from the city?"

"Mr. Liang Gie Wei, my chief secretary," Dr. Chu concluded, "will temporarily take charge of the Bureau of Foreign Affairs during my leave of absence."

NOTORIOUS CRIMINALS
BANISHED.CONNECTED WITH "TEAN" AND "SEANG BEE" PIRATES.

Two Chinese, Chen Lap Ting and Chan Chee Nam were arrested by the Police and deported from the Colony on Friday. Both men have long series of crimes recorded against them and the former is said to have figured in several of the piracies which have occurred during the last three years. He is stated to have been one of the chiefs in the Seang Bee piracy, and a prominent member of the band which successfully pirated the Norwegian steamer Sulstien. His most recent escapade was, it is alleged, in the Tean piracy, which he boasted of having financed from Hoihou. He is a native of the Hakka district and speaks Cantonese fluently.

Smuggler And Thief.

Chan Chee Nam is described as a smuggler and thief. He has been in custody on several occasions, and he was even brought before the Bench on a charge of murder committed several years ago. The charge, however, failed on insufficiency of evidence, but the defendant was banished. His recent arrest followed a comb out by the Police in which a man who was arrested as an accomplice in the assassination of the late Mr. Lee Hyam gave information which resulted in the arrest of Chan.

The two men, whose ages do not exceed 30, are known to the Police as dangerous criminals.

WATER RESTRICTION
HARDSHIP.CONDITIONS IN CHINESE HOUSES.TENANTS CONSTANTLY AT LOGGERHEADS.

SEQUEL AT THE MAGISTRACY.

The shortage in our water supply is causing great hardship to those living in the restricted area, and a stroll along the Central and Western district will reveal long queues at every street fountain. Little girls and boys not more than ten years old, buckets in hand, are to be seen pitting their strength against grown up men and women. Garrulous women quarrel with one another and at one street fountain a Daily Press representative saw three men beating each other with bamboo poles. On the whole it is a pitiable sight, especially when one sees a woman carrying her infant on her back and another child of four or five years old trying to scoop up some of the water from the drain and crevices near the fountain.

In Chinese tenement houses conditions are just as bad. The tap is only turned on for two hours a day, and where there are three storeys in the building, the family living on the top floor can hardly get a drop of the precious fluid. As soon as the tap is turned on, the families on the ground and first floors will bring out all their soiled linen to be washed, apart from filling up every receptacle. They generally monopolise the tap with-out giving a thought to the family living above. The result is that in nearly every block of houses the tenants are constantly at loggerheads. Hitherto they might have been very friendly terms with each other, but the restriction has caused endless bickering.

Spiteful Tenants.

Two cases were heard at the Central Magistracy on Saturday before Mr. R. E. Lindsell where the fourth floor tenants failing to get water, poured kerosene into the pipe out of spite.

A Chinese living at No. 1, Yu On Terrace on the fourth floor was charged with unscrewing the tap and pouring kerosene into the pipe so as to contaminate the supply to the whole building.

The defendant pleaded guilty to the first charge and denied the second. Evidence was then taken from Mr. W. R. N. Andrews of the P.W.D., who said that he had visited the premises and saw that the tap in defendant's flat had been removed. Witnesses also took a sample of the water and found that it smelt of kerosene.

Defendant then admitted that he had only poured "one cent's worth of kerosene" into the pipe. He did that because he could not get the tenants on the lower floors to turn off so as to give him a chance of getting some of the water.

The Magistrate said that the offence was a very disgusting one and convicted the defendant on both counts. A fine of $25 or 14 days was imposed on the first charge and to the second count defendant was ordered to pay another fine of $10.

Man And Boy Similarly Offend.

There was another case of the same nature, in which a man and a boy appeared as the defendants. They live at No. 18, Stanley Street and because they were not able to get water owing to the selfishness of the tenants on the lower floors, they poured kerosene into the pipe.

The man was fined $10 or ten days' imprisonment and the boy was ordered to receive 8 strokes of the birch.

More Street Fountains.

It is gratifying to note that the Water Authority has opened ten more street fountains in the water restricted areas, and a notification has been issued that on and after Tuesday, July 31st, the supply of water to all wharves in Victoria will be turned off, and will remain out off while the present restrictions on the Colony's water supply remain in force.

With regard to cutting off the supply to wharves, this is a step in the right direction. While it does not in any way inconvenience shipping, it certainly conserves a great deal of water. It was not long ago that a skipper on one of the West River boats advocated such a step saying that to wash down a vessel with filtered pipe from the hydrants at the wharves was a "shameful waste, and that it was no hardship for any vessel to draw from the harbour for that purpose."

"PARADISE FOR TWO."CONGRATULATIONS AND AN APOLOGY.EXCELLENT PROGRAMME AT THE QUEEN'S.

AT THE CINEMAS THIS WEEK.

[BY OUR FILM CRITIC.]

The Hong Kong Amusements having declared a 20 per cent. dividend on Saturday and showed a 100 per cent. comedy programme on Sunday, both feats deserving general congratulations. Betty Bronson deserves them too, and an apology. In the critique of "Two Girls Wanted" the fear was expressed that she had played herself out and been spoilt for ordinary parts by too early stardom, but her acting in "Paradise for Two" not only reverses that opinion but suggests that Miss Bronson may climb to the very top of the tree in her profession.

As Sally, the aspiring actress who is hired to play bride for a week or two to a wealthy young bachelor who will lose his money unless married, she is exquisite. Not only that; she gives to an ordinary and not very inspiring rôle poignancy, truth and interest. She is no longer the enfant terrible playing at being a woman, and very much conscious of the limelight, but a very charming natural young woman placed in a position of extraordinary difficulty. And Miss Bronson when she is not trying to look eerie is a very pretty girl who knows how to wear beautiful clothes. "Paradise for Two" ought to do more to establish her among the stars than any film in which she has so far appeared.

Richard Dix, the virile hero of "westerns," plays the hero and is almost equally good. In the early club scenes he establishes a feeling of sympathy and liking with his audience. Steve Porter, the womanish bachelor, who is to be defeated and superior to his married friends, so sure he will never live to be ordered about by a woman, interests every woman because she anticipates the punishment is waiting for him, and probably married men feel the same. They settle back in their seats with a smile and think "Just you wait, my lad," knowing that no properly conducted film could let such a challenge to sentiment succeed.

Noel Coward was probably the inspiration of the amusing little scenes in which both Steve and Sally long to confess their love for each other and fight not very successfully against temptation. Neither will take the first step though the woman has the last word before she runs away leaving her address in a prominent position.

"Paradise for Two" is distinguished by good acting for the other three protagonists the uncle for whose benefit Steve hires his bride, the man servant, and the bride's maid who provides Sally all play their parts well. It is also notable for freshness of treatment. The uncle is played by Edmund Breese and the actor, of course, by Andre Beranger who is never allowed to be anything else.

Dad's Choice.

The whole programme is good. It starts with M.G.'s. News including a locally made picture of baseball in the Valley, then follows the best short comedy we have seen here for a very long time. "Dad's Choice" is just one of those regular comedy themes of a girl and a boy and a ferocious father, but there are no pies, no falling pants and no livestock, the one old joke used is the wildly driven car but even that never turns from comedy to absurdity. Of course, what makes it good is that it is acted by people who know their work. The father is Otis Harlan, that dear little fussy man whose bluster covers a genuine kind and simple heart; the lover Everett Horton the whimsical unimaginative man, and the girl quite a capable if unknown actress. "Dad's Choice" is quite as good as most feature films and a good deal better than many of them. It is very amusing without being farcical and what is more is interesting.

VOLCANO IN THE
BEGUN.TERRIFYING UNDERGROUND THUNDER.

MANILA, July 29nd.

The eruption at Mount Mayon, which has been going on for three weeks now, says the Manila Times, reached what is believed to be the beginning of a destructive stage yesterday, emitting voluminous clouds of ashes and pouring out large quantities of incandescent material, says a telegram from the provincial commander of Albay. Considerable quantities of ash settled down in the towns of Camalig, Guinobatan, Libog and others, but as these towns were deserted two days ago, no casualties were registered.

Provincial Governor Lossin and the provincial commander consider that actual danger is at hand, and are consequently exerting every effort to avert a general stampede of Albay's entire population. In response to the request of the provincial commander for reinforcement, General Nathorst last night authorized the transfer of one company detachment from Camarines Sur and another from Sorsogon to Albay province. The two detachments will help the soldiers regularly stationed in the province in the maintenance of peace and order.

People Seized The People.

People seized the people of the province, especially those living at the foot of the volcano, as huge volumes of dark thick smoke belched forth continuously for several hours. Considerable incandescent material shot in the direction of Libog.

As a result of what the people believe to be unfavourable signs of an imminent destructive explosion, the inhabitants of Daraga, Camalig, Libog, Guinobatan and even Legaspi are fleeing to concentration places, says an earlier telegram. Slight earthquakes were felt in Malilipot although shocks were entirely local.

Crater Overflowing.

Another telegram states: "Terrifying and continuous underground thunder of volcano similar to this morning and afternoon (July 29th) accompanied by most beautiful but gruesome display of incandescent materials overflowing the crater on all sides, with rolling flame and black shooting upward to the sky again noticed at 10 tonight lasting for hours and overpowering people with fear. Many people crowd the streets vigilantly waiting for Father Selga's earthquake symptoms before fleeing."

Governor-General's Visit.

Governor-General Stimson visited the district and the Manila Times of the 24th says:—
Governor-General Stimson and his party returned at 3 p.m. to-day on the cruiser Trenton from inspecting the refugee situation around the Mayon area.

The Governor-General found all refugees well cared for and the several relief organizations ready for emergency work.

All activities in the volcano zone were inspected by the chief executive. Accompanied by his aide, Commander Jules James, and Albay officials, Governor-General Stimson made the entire circuit of the volcano.

At Tabaco, where most of the refugees have gathered, the Governor-General addressed the populace, assuring them of the aid of the Government.

Before leaving Mayon, the Governor-General conferred with the official of the relief organization.

Captain Gador, Constabulary Provincial Commander of Albay, wired headquarters to-day that immediately upon arrival the Governor-General, accompanied by Father Selga, Chief Del Rosario, Dr. Fastino and Albay officials, inspected the region around the volcano.

Governor-General Stimson commended the Constabulary for the preservation of order. No single case of theft has been registered in the refugee sector. He said the Constabulary was doing very well with the few men on hand.

Thursday to Saturday—"Heaven on Earth," a picturesque comedy of Southern France, with Conrad Nagel, Renee Adoree, and Gwen Leggs.

Star.

To-day—"Let it Rain," an amusing story of life with the Manes. With Douglas MacLean and Shirley Mason.

Tuesday and Wednesday—"Three Faces East," an excellent mystery drama of the Secret Service, with Jella Goudal, Clive Brook, and Harry B. Walthall.

Thursday to Saturday—"After Midnight," A modern story of night club and theatrical life, with Norma Shearer and Lawrence Gray.

Hong Kong, July 31st, 1928.

FIVE MILLION GALLONS OF WATER DAILY RUNNING TO WASTE.

THE present water shortage and the prospect of further restrictions have been the subject of general conversation in the Colony during the past week. There is unquestionably an undercurrent of intense indignation that the conditions from which we are now suffering should have been allowed to develop, and criticism is very freely directed against the policy of Sir Cecil Clementi which, admittedly, is primarily responsible for the delay in providing the Island with adequate water supplies. As we pointed out last week, if the Shing Mun Valley scheme, initiated during the regime of Sir Edward Strous, and approved by the Secretary of State, had been allowed to proceed according to plan there would have been no lack of water this Summer. Sir Cecil Clementi, acting in direct opposition to the strongly expressed views of all the unofficial members of Council and against the advice, we believe, of the technical experts, insisted that the work should be postponed. The average resident does not concern himself greatly with engineering details or with delicately weighing the advantages and disadvantages of alternative proposals. His attitude may be crystallised in a sentence. We have been asked on more than one occasion this week "Why should one opinion prevail against the consensus of opinion?" Another correspondent went as far as to suggest that we should call a public meeting in order that a spirited protest might be entered. We do not think that such a meeting is either necessary or desirable at the moment, but we are convinced that if one were held the Government would be astounded at the feeling of resentment which their inactivity has engendered. That resentment has not been created by official inactivity per se. We are a patient people and a few months delay here and there in a Government department is regarded as a matter of course. It is created by the realisation of the fact that the delay is due solely to the stand taken by H.E. the Governor against the wishes of all other groups. Hong Kong may ordinarily be apathetic in public affairs, but it has grown too old and thinks too much of itself and its own collective intelligence to relish treatment of this kind. And we would remind the Unofficial Members that their prestige is very deeply concerned. They may protest, as we know some of them do, that they have done everything in their power. The protest falls on deaf ears. They are regarded as the representatives of the public and when there is a clash between public and official opinion the people are not satisfied until the Unofficial Members have openly and fearlessly stated the public's point of view. An expression of opinion in committee does not meet the case. Last Monday we suggested that in all probability H.E. the Governor had modified his views regarding the inadvisability of laying pipe-line across the harbour. Even if he has not done so already he is bound to do so within a few weeks if the situation is adequately and forcefully represented from this end. We then, respectfully offered the advice that the Unofficial Members should cable to Sir Cecil Clementi pointing out the need for urgent action. We still consider that advice sound whatever may have transpired at the meeting of the Public Works Committee on Thursday. At that meeting the problem of water supply was fully discussed again and the inspired report is that "all members were alive to the needs of the situation and were doing their utmost to find a way out of the difficulties." That is cold comfort. The same thing might have been said two years ago. The pipe line must come and it would be simple courtesy on the part of the Unofficial Members to cable to His Excellency an outline of their proposed action before forcing the issue in the Legislative Council. It would probably support and strengthen any cable sent by the Government itself. There is no doubt Sir Cecil would have to give way. To issue instructions, in the face of present-day facts, that the official vote had to be recorded against the continuance of the Shing Mun scheme, as originally conceived, would be a responsibility which no individual would care to take upon his own shoulders.

We have had callers every day to point out how heavy and constant is the wastage of water owing to leaking taps and general carelessness. There is no doubt that hundreds of thousands of gallons are lost from these causes. It is equally true that the Chinese are the worst offenders. A European will instinctively turn off a tap when he sees the water running to waste, whether he has to pay for the water or not. A Chinese will not trouble himself in the matter at all. Therefore when the Hon. Dr. KORTWALL refers to the sufferings of his fellow countrymen, and Mr. BRAGA draws a picture of the poor people fighting for supplies at the street hydrants whilst taipans are using hundreds of gallons for watering their Peak gardens, cide a speech at the Sanitary Board last year, we would remind these gentlemen that they might perhaps be better employed in endeavouring to teach the coolies that waste is very frequently, if not invariably, followed by want. A good deal of unnecessary sympathy, as well as water, can be wasted on a Chinese coolie who does not appear to value anything which does not directly touch his own pocket. But that by the way.

We wonder how many members of the general public and how many of our Unofficial Members of Council realise that at the present time approximately five million gallons of water are being wasted daily. Kowloon, at the moment, has more than enough water from its own reservoirs. The Shing Mun valley supplies are not being touched and, therefore, they are pouring gloriously into the sea in one great stream. We would advise those interested to go and see the waste for themselves and then they would probably write "outspoken" letters to the Daily Press, on the subject of the "Government's Folly," of course, under nomine de plume so that any blame for publishing them might fall on our shoulders only. A pipe line is required to bring this water across the harbour but apparently there is some trouble about deciding the best method of laying the pipe. If it is put down in sections on the bed of the harbour, it can be in working order in a year and will cost about three lakhs of dollars. There is the danger that a section may be dragged away during a typhoon by some ship's anchor, but that would not be a terrible disaster. It might happen once in three or five years and it could easily be remedied in a month. The alternative is to embed the pipe line in concrete at a cost of possibly two and a half or three million dollars. To the layman the cheaper plan seems the obvious one to adopt and we trust the Unofficial Members will give it their support. It even meets Sir Cecil Clementi's chief objection to a pipe line that in ten or fifteen years there will be no water available from the mainland. Even supposing the pipe line had to be discarded at that distant date the loss of the capital sum of $300,000 would not be a calamity.

CONCERT AT KOW LOOD SPEAKERS IN LOON DOCK.

K.O.S.B. BAND AND PIPERS.

A LONG SHORT CUT.

The open air concert at the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club beach last night was attended by a very large number of people, many of whom had crossed the harbour from Hong Kong. The very successful series of concerts given in the same place last year has not been forgotten by the residents of the Colony, and they knew the journey would be well repaid by the pleasure of sitting in a cool spot near the sea and listening to a concert given by the band of the 2nd Batt., K.O.S.B., supplemented by the Pipes and Drums, for the K.O.S.B. musicians are very popular here.

The concert was given by kind permission of Lieut.-Colonel L. J. Comyn, C.M.G., D.S.O., and Officers; Mr. W. H. FitzEarle, A.R.C.M., conducted the band and Pipe Major W. C. K. Mackie and Drum Major W. D. Dalrymple the pipes and drums.

Varied Programme.
Of the nine items in the programme which included chamber music, musical comedy, and traditional airs, perhaps the 4th, selections from "Hit the Deck" played by the band gained the most enthusiastic applause; but the programme was so varied that each individual in the audience was given something of the sort of music they liked best and there was no stint of clapping after any item.

The pipes and drums are always popular, perhaps never more so than when playing in the open, when the skirling seems more musical and less foreign to English ears than in a room, and all those present were regretful that owing to pressure of time the pipe finale had to be curtailed.

The Short Out.
Many of the audience had found the walk before the concert from the bus stop to the beach rather hot and tiring and when rumours of a short-cut were circulated after the National Anthem some thirty credulous souls went in search of the mysterious "tunnel" which was to lead them out quickly. But alas, the tunnel debouched on a boulder strewn waste across which a narrow track lead to the head of a precipitous cliff. Luckily the moon was fairly bright, and a way down by means of roughly hewn steps was discovered, not such a way, however, as was best fitted for women's high heeled evening slippers. Happily no accident was incurred and the users of the short cut only arrived in the high road about a couple of minutes behind the less adventurous souls.

If the Motor Bus Company that goes out to Kowloon Dock could be persuaded to put on a few more buses when concerts are held there, it would be a public service which would be much appreciated.

The Programme.
The full programme of the concert was as follows:—

- 1.—March Chinese "Kwang Hau" (Lincke).
- 2.—Overture "William Tell" (Rossini).
- 3.—Pipers: The 48th Canadian Highlanders; Loudens Bonnie Woods and Brues; The Highway to Linton.
- 4.—Selection: "Hit the Deck" (Youmans).
- 5.—Pipers: Dovecoats Park; The Braes O' Mar; The Kilt is My Delight; Pibroch O'Donnell Dhu.
- 6.—Selection: "Robert Bruce" (Bonniaseau).
- 7.—Pipers: The Ayrshire Lassies; Stirling Castle; Miss Girdle.
- 8.—Selection: "Communityland" (Stoddon).
- 9.—Finale, Band Pipes and Drums: "Macfarlane's Favourite"; "The Road to the Isles"; "Blue Bonnets o'er the Border"; "God Save the King."

INSTALLED IN CENTRAL PARK.

POLITICS AND SONGS.

A NEW FORM OF DEVILS.

A new loud-speaker apparatus, recently purchased by the Municipality, has been installed at the Central Park, Canton. The formal opening ceremony was conducted on the 28th inst. when members of the various Government organisations were present. The public rolled up in force, and fully twenty thousand persons were present.

Mr. Fung Wai, head of the Bureau of Public Utilities, explained the nature of the instrument, and that it was possible to magnify sound almost to any degree.

To Broadcast Lectures.

As to the object of purchasing the instrument, Mr. Fung said that by its use news could be orally disseminated to "big crowds" where under ordinary conditions the human voice would not be heard except by those immediately surrounding the speaker. The principal purpose, then, of acquiring the machine, was to expound to the public the principles of the Kuomintang, and the Three Principles of the People as written by the late Director, Dr. Sun. The educated class would read and learn for themselves but the great mass of the people were either unable to read or were not in a position to purchase books on these subjects. In the interests of the great mass of the people, then, it is intended by means of this loudspeaker, to broadcast public lectures on these important principles.

Apart from the serious side of affairs, if a sufficient number of these machines were purchased, the amusement of the people might be catered for. Songs by well known singers, market rates of currencies and commodities, etc., could all be announced to the public without any trouble.

Two loudspeaker outfits were ordered, and would shortly be delivered for installation in suitable parts of the city, while the purchase of more outfits were being considered.

Following the address by Mr. Fung, songs were rendered by several noted singers, actors and actresses, while later in the afternoon, phonograph records of the lectures of the late Dr. Sun were reproduced and broadcast through the loudspeaker.

New Species Of Devil.

Those of our readers who are acquainted with the size of the Central Park will be able to appreciate the value of the instrument when we say that all the songs and addresses were heard both inside and outside the park with great clarity. The streets bounding the Central Park were packed with humanity, listening in amazement to voices that seemed to come from empty space. Conjectures were rife as to the cause of the phenomenon, but all were sufficiently wise to be able to say that the strange instrument mounted in the Park grounds had something to do with it. No report of the demonstration would be complete without some mention of the belief voiced by a few that a new species of devils had been caught and harnessed, and that it was through their agency that the human voice could be sent ringing through space for such distances.—Canton Gazette.

FOUR FIREMEN AND A POLICEMAN.

ALLEGED ASSAULT AND OBSTRUCTION.

Four firemen of the Central Fire Brigade appeared on Saturday morning before Major C. Willson for obstructing a Chinese Policeman in the execution of his duty and assaulting. The alleged offence was stated to have occurred at No. 24, West Street. The defendants were represented by Mr. Horace Lo who asked for a remand. This was granted and the hearing fixed for Wednesday afternoon bail of $50 being allowed.

KILLED BY BUFFALO.

EXCITING SCENES IN PORT SWETTENHAM.

KUALA, Lumpur, July 23rd.
A police constable has been gored to death by a buffalo near Port Swettenham.

A quarantined buffalo escaped from the camp at Port Swettenham on Saturday and disappeared into the blunder by the side of the railway line. On a report being made by the veterinary inspector, a police constable and a dog shooter were dispatched after the runaway and another police constable, who was unarmed, joined the party of his own accord.

The buffalo rushed on the party and gored to death the unarmed man. Later it entered the town, where three persons were injured. Later the animal was shot by the police.—Straits Times.

COMMUNICATIONS
IN CHINA.REPORT FOR 5TH PLENARY SESSION.CORRUPTION AND INEFFICIENCY.

A voluminous document has been issued by the Ministry of Communications dealing comprehensively with China's railways, posts, telegraphs, telephones—everything that comes under the heading of Communications. It has been prepared by the Minister, Mr. Wang Po Chun, to be laid before the 5th plenary session of the Kuomintang at Nanking on August 1st. It is far too long to be printed fully, but some interesting extracts may be quoted.

In A Primitive Stage.

Mr. Wang begins by pointing out that:

"In spite of railroad, telegraph, postal service and navigation, etc., having been organized more than several scores of years they are still in a primitive stage, with the exception of the postal administration which is comparatively well organized but without progress due to the continuous warfare. There are altogether only 7,000 odd kilometres of railroad already completed, a total length of 87,000 miles of telegraph, some 50 wireless stations, and 100,000 telephone numbers. Government navigation has not yet been established, what commercial organizations possess even, is not quite 400,000 tons. As to aviation and highway and all other methods of modern transportation no comparison can be made with those of Europe, America or Japan."

Loans Frittered Away.

Mr. Wang calculates that "over $700,000,000 is the amount of loans borne by the Ministry of Communications up till the end of the 13th years of the Republic of China." In most cases payment of interest is long over-due, let alone repayment of capital. The debt is not a large one for such a country as China.

"but considering the distance of not more than 7,000 kilometres of completed lines of railroad and some 80,000 miles of telegraph this amount is starting. In tracing the reason of this backwardness we find the hindrance of communications is due to incessant civil war, the cause of which began before the years 14 and 16 when Yuan Shih Kai was in power."

The Minister then dwells on the years of corruption and wastage and of loans ostensibly raised for communications but frittered away on nobody knows what. After certain adjustments with the Ministry of Finance, the Ministry of Communications "will require about $80,000,000 every year for the return of capital and interest, an amount difficult to meet owing to unsettled condition of the country."

Lost Rolling-Stock.

Of the loss on property, rolling-stock and so forth, we get the following startling statement—

"According to the record compiled in the 4th year of the Republic our government railroads possessed 1,400 locomotive, 2,189 passenger cars, and 17,524 freight wagons, of which only about half of the numbers are now in good condition and service, the rest being either taken out, beyond Shanhaikwan or out of order. Due to abuse and deterioration the time and labour to put them into proper conditions again would cost more than double what would otherwise be required."

Dealing With Militarists.

Mr. Wang then details his general scheme of reform, reorganization from a national point of view and centralized control and rigorous pruning out of corruption and abuse. On the special abuses practised by the military we read—

"At places where military operations exist, a special military transportation bureau may be appointed by the highest officer in command of the army to co-operate with the managing director as to arrangement of cars. No retention of cars at will for administrative affairs, causing stoppage of commercial transportation, however, will be allowed."

Adjustment Of Debt.

On the subject of China's railway loans recommendations state—

Loan agreements should be made reasonable and on an equal basis. Those impairing our sovereign rights, or aiming at monopolistic control and unreasonable profits, should be revised as soon as possible.

BRITISH DESIRES FOR SETTLEMENT.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, July 29th.
The British Minister, in an interview, said that the British Government has in mind a method similar to that employed by the American Government for settlement with the Nationalist Government of the Nanking incident. However, owing to the fact that the British Government felt differently from the American Government regarding the problem of treaty revision, Britain did not follow the United States in the question of settling the Nanking incident. However, an early settlement is desired, and therefore the British Government will address a note to the Nanking Government, in similar terms to that of the American Government, regarding the problem of treaty revision with China.

ITALIAN NOTE.

PEKING, July 29th.
The Italian Legation this morning handed to deutscher the note which it sent to the Nationalist Government on July 11th in reply to the Nationalist Government's note of July 1st concerning abrogation of the treaty.

TEXT OF U.S. TREATY.

NANKING, July 29th.
While the official text of the Treaty signed by Mr. T. V. Soong and Mr. MacMurray is not yet available, the Kuo Min news agency has been informed that it contains only two paragraphs, substantially as follows:

The first clause provides that existing tariff rates on American imports and exports to and from China shall henceforth be declared null and void. A new tariff schedule to be drawn up on the principle of National Tariff Autonomy. China and America, however, will agree that there will be no discriminatory treatment accorded to their respective nationals as compared with that accorded to other nationals.

They further agree that neither shall upon any pretext whatever impose Customs duty, inland tax or any other levies on the imports and exports of nationals of the other contracting Power exceeding the rates paid by their own nationals or nationals of any other country. The said Treaty shall be effective from January 1st, 1929, upon ratification by the Governments concerned before the above said date. If by any chance ratification is not completed before January 1st, 1929, the Treaty shall be operative four months following the date of ratification.

The second clause specifies, in case of disagreement concerning the interpretation, that the English text of the Treaty will rule.

GERMANY AND CHINA.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, July 29th.
The German Minister is on his way to Shanghai, whence he will proceed to Nanking for the purpose of negotiating with the Nationalist Government regarding the relationship between Germany and China.

DENMARK NEGOTIATES.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, July 29th.
The Danish Minister has left Peking for Shanghai for the purpose of holding a conversation with Dr. C. T. Wang regarding the matter of treaty revision.

AN UNITED FRONT.

(Wah Tsz Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, July 29th.
General Chang Hsueh Liang has telegraphed to his representative in Peking to the effect that he has determined to pledge his allegiance to the Nationalist Government in order that China may present a united front to foreign nations.

'ITALIA' SURVIVORS
AT COPENHAGEN.VISIT TO MALMGREN'S
MOTHER.

NOBILE DEPRESSED.

COPENHAGEN, July 29th.
The railway coach containing the Italia survivors arrived here at midnight aboard the ferry from Malmoe, and were greeted by the Italian Minister. No untoward incident occurred. The survivors were installed in the Italian Legation.

Zappi was not present, and it is believed that he has accompanied the Swede, Capt. Lundborg (who rescued Nobile by air) on a visit to Professor Malmgren's mother at Stockholm. He will come on to Copenhagen to-night to rejoin his companions.

General Nobile, in an interview, said that he was physically fit, but unable to shake off a feeling of depression. Ceccioni, whose death was frequently misreported from the Arctic, was hobbling about on crutches with his foot bandaged. He was emphatic that Nobile was rightly the first to be taken off from the ice floe, as he was the illast.

The Czechoslovak Professor Behounek, who was one of the Vigilieri party, is going to Prague direct where, as all his scientific notes are intact, he will immediately begin a book upon the results of the expedition.

Her Son's Compass.

STOCKHOLM, July 29th.
Zappi, accompanied by the Italian Consul-General, visited Professor Malmgren's mother and handed over her son's compass.

Moscow, July 29th.
The East and West Railway and also telegraphic communications are interrupted as a consequence of floods in the Zeya district and Amur province of the River Zeya, which in some places is twelve miles wide. Damage hitherto is estimated at five million roubles.

THAMES RIVERSIDE FIRE.

CENTURY-OLD WHARF DESTROYED.

OVER-HEATED PEANUTS.

LONDON, July 29th.
Overheated peanuts are believed to have been the cause of the greatest river fire for years, at the century-old, six-storey wharf occupied by Messrs. Chambers in the waterways of the Thames. It is in the danger-zone of the Tooley-street Dock area, and was stocked with grain, peanuts, and desiccated coconut.

The fire started yesterday evening, the flames leaping 100 feet. Two hundred frames from various parts of London battled all night long and thousands of sightseers thronged London Bridge, Tower Bridge and both sides of the river. The new monitor Beta 111 shot water at the rate of 1,500 gallons per minute.

The fire was not controlled until eight o'clock in the morning.

According to a Naval Wireless message received here yesterday it was stated that the A.P.C. steamer Atlatique went around at Chengling. H.M.S. Gnat has gone to her assistance.

WAFD DEFIANCE OF GOVERNMENT.

MEETING AT PRIVATE HOUSE.

PRESENT MINISTRY
CENSURED.

CAIRO, July 29th.
The Wafdist senators and deputies met in a private house last evening in defiance of the Government's decree forbidding such a meeting.

They passed a resolution declaring that Parliament still exists, and is entitled to meet according to the Constitution, and calling on the Government to resign.

According to the newspaper Al-Balagh, the meeting was held, notwithstanding police precautions, about five hundred yards from the Governorate. A resolution was passed that the decree issued on July 19th was a revolution against the constitution, and any legislation passed or foreign agreements concluded by the present Ministry were null and void.

Finally the House was prorogued until November 17th. After all the late members of Parliament present, numbering about two hundred, had signed the resolutions all solemnly swore "to safeguard the constitution and defend it to the utmost till the last moment of my life."

EGYPTIAN COTTON.

GOVERNMENT NOT SELLING.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

ALEXANDRIA, July 29th.
It is officially announced that the Government is not selling its stock of cotton this year.

COTTON LOCKOUT ORDERED.

HALF A MILLION AFFECTED.

LONDON, July 27th.
The Federation of Master Cotton Spinners Association has decided that the threatened lockout shall commence on August 11th.

This decision, which affects half a million cotton operatives in Lancashire, is a sequel to the strike of spinners in Ramsey Mill, Oldham, over a workman's refusal to join the Trade Union.

The Master Spinners Association Committee last week decided to recommend to an extraordinary general meeting, held yesterday, that all the Federation mills be closed at noon of August 11th and remain closed until the Ramsey Mill strikers resume.

The lockout will affect about 120,000 operatives in the American Section, 80,000 in the Egyptian Section, and 300,000 weavers.

GERMAN INDIGNATION
WITH FRANCE.STRONG FEELING OVER EXTRADITION REQUEST.

BERLIN, July 29th.
Indignation still continues over the request by the French Occupation Authorities to be German Government to extradite three Germans sentenced to five years' penal servitude by French Court Martial at Landau on a charge of tearing down the French flag from the officers' casino at Zweilbrucken.

The Nationalist organizations have issued a declaration stating that if the Government agrees to the extraditions, "Constitution Day" (on August 11th) should be celebrated as a day of mourning and repentance, as a symbol of Germany's servitude and dishonour.

A request has been made to President Hindenburg immediately to dissolve the Reichstag if it consents to the extraditions.

Meanwhile, the Government has taken no notice of the outburst but is negotiating through diplomatic channels with France.

THIRD READING OF FINANCE BILL.

CHURCHILL'S OPTIMISM.

LONDON, July 27th.
The House of Commons has, by 249 votes to 84, defeated a motion for the rejection of the Finance Bill, which was accordingly read a third time.

In the debate on the Finance Bill to-day, Mr. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said as a result of information available at the close of the first quarter of the financial year, there was a good prospect of a surplus on the year of £14,000,000 sterling, and there was no reason why the Budget estimate as a whole should not be made good.

OLYMPIC GAMES
INCIDENT.FRENCH TEAM REFUSED ADMISSION.

OBSTINATE GATEKEEPER.

AMSTERDAM, July 28th.
In the Stadium here, which was thronged by a crowd of 40,000 spectators, the Prince Consort finally declared open the Ninth Olympiad. After rain throughout the night the clouds broke this morning, and sunshine lit up the gaily bedecked streets and stadium.

The Prince Consort was tumultuously cheered as he took the salute to the strains of the Dutch National Anthem.

The opening was marked by a sensation. When the parade of competitors, forming the cream of the world's manhood, marched past the Royal Box, it was found that the French competitors were not participating in the march.

Their absence was apparently due to a misunderstanding with the gatekeeper. The team was yesterday authorised to view the grounds, but the gatekeeper refused to admit them. A heated argument followed during which the gatekeeper struck M. Mirecamp, secretary of the French team. The Frenchmen immediately withdrew.

The Netherlands Olympic Committee, on hearing of the incident, apologised and the incident was believed to be closed.

However, when the French team arrived to participate in the march past the same gatekeeper was on duty and obstinately refused to admit them. The Frenchmen again withdrew, and the question has arisen of their refusing to participate in the Games.

Gross Insult.

The French Olympic competitors, finding the same gatekeeper on duty to-day, though his dismissal had been promised, spontaneously decided not to participate in the march past.

They have lodged an official protest, describing the incident as a gross insult. Meanwhile the French authorities are consulting with the French Minister to the Netherlands, before deciding as regards participation in the Games.

Incident Cleared Up.

LATER.
The incident has been cleared up, and the French will participate in the Games.

Following the settlement the French team took the Olympic oath, which was taken by the other teams in the Stadium during the afternoon.

LADY HEATH.

ENGAGED FOR 20,000 MILE
FLIGHT.PILOT OF BIG PASSENGER PLANE.

LONDON, July 27th.
Lady Heath, interviewed by Reuter on her arrival at Croydon from Amsterdam as second pilot of the 16-passenger Fokker-Jupiter plane of the Royal Dutch Air Line, said she had been engaged to act as second pilot of a Fokker air liner fitted with three Armstrong-Siddeley engines which would make the journey from Amsterdam to Batavia and back in the autumn; to inaugurate the new Dutch service.

She is now intent on gaining experience on big multi-engined machines and will later study engines at the Armstrong-Siddeley works.

Lady Heath said she found the big passenger air liners easier to fly than small machines, as they were practically stable.

Later in the day, Lady Heath flew back in the cockpit of the plane to Amsterdam with a full load of passengers and freight.

To Gain Experience.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

RUGBY, July 27th.
Lady Heath, the well-known British air woman, arrived at Croydon Aerodrome to-day in the cockpit of a Fokker-Jupiter fifteen-passenger Dutch air liner. She has entered into a contract with the Royal Dutch Air Line in order to obtain experience of large multi-engined machines.

Although Lady Heath was nominally second pilot on to-day's trip, it is understood that she took charge throughout the journey from Amsterdam and is the first woman in the world to act as pilot of a large air liner.

It was her third day with a passenger machine. She flew from Amsterdam to Paris on Wednesday and to Brussels yesterday. She returned to Amsterdam from Croydon later to-day, and on Monday she expects to fly to Zurich.

Her purpose is to obtain experience prior to a 20,000 mile flight from Holland to Batavia and back in the autumn. The Dutch are sending out four air liners to inaugurate an air service over that route, and Lady Heath is going as pilot of a fifth machine, a Fokker with three Armstrong-Siddeley engines, in which General Snyder, the distinguished Dutch soldier, will be among the passengers.

Lady Heath's previous air experience has been mainly with light machines, in which she made many notable flights.

RAILWAY WAGE
SETTLEMENT.

BRITISH COMMON SENSE.

HISTORIC AGREEMENT.

RUGBY, July 28th.
Contrary to general expectations, a settlement was reached yesterday in the wages negotiations between the four railway companies and the three railway unions. It had been anticipated that negotiations would be prolonged and a settlement would only be reached after resorting to special conciliation machinery, but complete agreement, in which are included representatives of Locomotive Engineers' Union, who withdrew from conference on first day, was announced last night.

Under the settlement railway men are to accept a reduction in earnings of 2½ per cent. from August 13th. Railway directors have offered to join in this reduction so far as their own salaries are concerned, and the managerial staff will also suffer the same reduction. Standard agreements remain intact but are temporarily subject to this agreement.

The agreement is to remain in force for twelve months and then to be terminable by three months' notice. Mr. J. H. Thomas, the chief representative of the National Union of Railwaymen, last night described the agreement as a great triumph of British common sense. He added: "It is historic, and must play an important part in the future relations of capital and labour."

HORRIBLE CRIME IN MANILA.JEALOUS HUSBAND'S VENGEANCE.VICTIM A 24-YEAR-OLD EDITRESS.

MANILA, July 23rd.
One of the most revolting crimes ever recorded in the police annals of Manila occurred yesterday morning when Rosario Gardiner, 24 years old, magazine editor of La Opinion, a local Spanish daily, was hacked to death with a butcher's knife by her jealous husband, Andres B. Espina, in the garden of the girl's uncle at 322 P. Burgos Passy. The crime occurred at 9.15 a.m., Sunday and the young wife expired at the San Juan de Dios Hospital at 12.20 p.m., or about three hours later. A mortal wound on the right portion of the back caused death.

Before dying the girl was able to make a sworn statement before Glicerio Opinion, provincial fiscal of Rizal, in which she stated that her husband killed her with a butcher's knife. She said that yesterday morning she and her husband left their home to visit the girl's aunt, Mrs. Anita Monasterio. They had decided to go there, she declared, in order to arrive at some settlement in regard to their marital troubles.

Following a little argument in which the girl told her husband: "You can kill me if you want to," Espina drew the knife he had concealed in his person and attacked her. The girl further averred that she wanted to get a legal separation from her husband because he had been maltreating her.

Shortly after the commission of the crime Espina was arrested by the police of Pasay. In a state made before the chief of police of Pasay, Espina declared that he killed his wife. He would not answer any other question put to him, beyond stating that he was 30 years old, and that he had no occupation. He is now in the municipal jail of Pasay.

Complaint for parricide was filed this afternoon against Espina with the justice of the peace court of Pasay. In the meantime the (Continued at foot of next column.)

CABLE CONFERENCE REPORT.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT.

REVOLUTIONARY STEP.

RUGBY, July 28th.
The Report of the Imperial Wireless and Cable Conference now awaits discussion by the Empire Parliaments before effect can be given to its recommendations. Meanwhile it is being examined closely in the Press.

The sweeping nature of its recommendations is recognised on all hands, and the Times says that both from economic and political view points they are of most far-reaching importance. "Economically they inaugurate a new era in the history of empire communication, which in itself is an achievement of the highest order. Politically their unanimous character is a remarkable monument of imperial co-operation. These far-sighted recommendations provide beyond a doubt the right solution to what has for a long time seemed an insoluble problem. Any less bold and comprehensive scheme would have been doomed to failure from the outset."

Fundamental Principles.
The solution proposed is built up on two fundamental principles—unity of control and private enterprise—neither of which could be neglected without certainty of failure. By combining the whole system of empire communications in one vast amalgamation it has rendered possible the advantages and economies of a moderate large scale enterprise—scientific co-ordination, the elimination of wasteful competition and all the opportunities for economy which these alone can bring."

The Daily Telegraph congratulates the Conference on the proposals, which constitute a revolutionary reorganisation of all telegraphic services linking the empire together. It says that the arguments in favour of these sweeping changes are irresistible; except on the ground, which it describes as a purely doctrinaire point of view, that national ownership is thing sacred in itself, to which all other considerations must give way.

Opposition Lines.
Among the Liberal and Labour newspapers some exception is taken to the report on these grounds, and it is clear that the opposition in Parliament will concentrate primarily on the state ownership issue when the report is debated in the Commons next week.

The Daily Herald protests vigorously against the abandonment of the principle of public ownership, and the Manchester Guardian questions the wisdom of the British and Dominion Governments selling their cable and wireless services to a private combine. The Guardian demands a careful consideration of whether adequate safeguards are provided in the report to ensure against a subordination of public interests to profit making in the proposed new combine.

State Ownership.
The Liberal journal, the Daily Chronicle, on the other hand reminds advocates of state ownership that many states are involved in this reorganisation. It adds: "Can it be thought that a state enterprise, run jointly by such a multiplicity of states, would be a hopeful way of dealing with a business proposition even if, as is not the case, they were all keen on such an experiment? Nobody who does not make it a dogma to insist on state ownership in all conditions could find the conditions here auspicious. So we are brought almost inevitably to the solution of an Imperial Public Utility Company such as the conference's report suggests. Safeguards are needed, but these points are covered explicitly and adequately in the report."

PERAK GHOSTS!

WEIRD HAPPENINGS RE-PORTED FROM TAPAH.

IPOH, July 20th.

A weird phenomena is exciting residents of Tapah, where an authenticated report is published of mysterious happenings in a shop-house. At about eight o'clock on Monday night a local barber's shop received a steady rain of stones at intervals.

The barber reported the matter to the police, who failed to discover the source, which apparently was from the blue. Then a perfect police cordon was formed around the shop, but stones, large and small, rained on the roof during the watchmen. Many got the "wind up," and left scared. The fusillade stopped after two hours. The same experience happened the next night.

CHINESE R.C. MAINTAIN RECORD.

HONG KONG C.C. COMPLETE PROGRAMME.

RECREIO II. FORGE AHEAD.

With one exception the programme on Saturday consisted of "C" Division matches. An interesting tie was that between the Club de Recreio II. and the Kowloon Cricket Club in the "C" on the former's courts which resulted in a win for the home team. By this defeat, Kowloon, who have suffered three reverses, can now be regarded as out of the running for the runners-up position. Recreio II., on the other hand, have improved their chances. They are at present third to the two Chinese teams, and it will be difficult to shift them. A margin of 39 games is a convincing victory, but Kowloon were without several men, who took part in the match against the Chinese Recreation Club "C" II. to whom they lost by one game only.

The South China Athletic Association, who unexpectedly went down to Civil Service Cricket Club the previous week, beat the Y.M.C.A. by 43 games which proved to be the biggest margin of the day. They are now competing with the Recreio II. for the position in the table next to the Chinese Recreation Club. Both have lost one match each.

Of the other matches the Chinese Recreation Club won both their matches, as expected, thereby maintaining their unbeaten record. Their second team, who beat the Indian Recreation Club by 35 games, occupy the leading position in the Table with ten matches played and won, while their first team, who beat the R.A.M.C. by 27 games are second with nine matches played, all being won.

The Club de Recreio I. were also successful against the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club who have yet to register a win, while the Hong Kong Cricket Club and the Civil Service Cricket Club secured victories at the expense of the Kennedy Road Married Quarters and the R.A.O.C. respectively.

In the only match in the "B" Division, the Hong Kong Cricket Club beat the University by 17 games on their own courts. The winners have now completed their fixtures and of ten matches, have won eight and lost two. Their two defeats were by the Chinese Recreation Club and the South China Athletic Association, the two leading Clubs in the Table.

LAWN BOWLS.

DRAWN GAME IN SENIOR DIVISION.

"DOUBLE" FOR TAIKOO.

Saturday's matches in the Lawn Bowls League provided the first drawn game of the season in the senior division, Kowloon Docks sharing the points at home with the Kowloon C.C.

Taikoo maintained their reputation at home by defeating the Kowloon Bowling Green on all rinks.

On the Police ground the Civil Service again went down in a close game. A. Clark's team played well from the beginning and scored 23 shots in the first 14 heads, giving Hollidge only 2 singles. The latter improved and in the last head was left with 4 shots to win, but gave 3 away instead.

In the junior section, Civil Service defeated East Point and improved their prospects for premier place and promotion.

Taikoo's visit to the K.C.C. ground was marked by a narrow victory for the former, and, with their senior team winning at Kowloon, the Club secured a "double."

The Yachtmen visited Kowloon Bowling Green and lost on all rinks.

Craigengower after their collapse the previous week, before Recreio "A" did well in defeating the other Recreio team at King's Park. There was very little difference between the scores and the visitors won by 9 shots on the margin established on one rink.

RESULTS AT A GLANCE.

DAVIS CUP.

TILDEN BEATS LACOSTE.

DOUBLES DELAYED BY RAIN.

[THROUGH BRUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, July 29th.
Rain caused a delay in the Davis Cup doubles between America and France when France was leading by 3 games to 2 in the first set. The match was therefore postponed and will be continued to-morrow. The present position is that France (the holders) and America have each won one singles match.

A Huge Crowd.
A huge crowd of all nationalities, including a large number of Japanese, gathered at the Stade Roland Garros to watch the first day's play, which resulted as follows:—Tilden (U.S.A.) beat Lacoste 1-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.
Cochet (France) beat Hennessey 3-7, 9-7, 6-3, 6-0.

A Great Struggle.
Lacoste, who served first, took the game, Tilden taking the next after deuce had been called several times. After this the American gave many easy openings for Lacoste to shoot past him when he came to the net.

A feature of the second set was Tilden's crisp volleys at the net which the Frenchman was unable to return. Lacoste seemed unable to find his length, sending many balls outside.

The third set was a repetition of the second. It was rather a battle of wits than hard-hitting.

Tilden was nearly always successful when he advanced to the net in the fourth set. Play was very fast. The Frenchman took the offensive and forced Tilden to run backwards and forwards, tiring him out until he sent the balls into the net.

The fifth set was a wonderful exhibition, both returning what seemed to the spectators to be unbreakable balls. The scores were level at 3-3, but again Lacoste lost his length with Tilden sweeping all before him.

Cochet's Victory.
Cochet was in his element against Hennessey. Both adopted hard-hitting rather than safety tactics, attempting impossible overhead shots which frequently failed to come off.

Cochet, at the outset, showed his usual fault of indifference. After leading by 4 games to 1 in second set, Cochet allowed himself to be taken to 16 games before winning the set.

Hennessey's network in the second set was magnificent but his form dropped badly in the third and fourth sets.

COUNTY CRICKET.

LOCAL BASEBALL.

ANOTHER FILIPINO VICTORY.

"SACRAMENTO" TROUNCE
S.C. DRAGONS.

[BY C.L.C.]

The week end baseball games were not particularly spectacular. The Hong Kong Baseball Club were not up to form in their game against the Filipinos, and the South China Dragons was easily outclassed by the U.S.S. Sacramento team yesterday. In both games the scoring was heavy, the Filipinos won by 13 to 7 and the Sacramento disposed of the Chinese by 10 to 1 runs.

Yesterday's Game.

The Sacramento outfit battled first in their game against the South China Dragons yesterday and opened the score with a dandy home run by Kenniff, who binged over to short. McGovern contributed another run in this frame. Out of six men going into bat, two made their way home, three fled leaving Marlowe dead at second base. T. Chinn started the batting for the Chinese and reached first on a pitched ball. He was, however, put out at second. D. Chinn singled and was advanced to third when W. Sling got pegged at first. S. L. Lee fled to short, and thus ended the first inning without a run being scored.

The American sailors bagged another run in the second stanza through Lindemuth, and the Chinese were again sent to the field without drawing blood.

The third frame ended in the score remaining the same for the sailors, but the Chinese managed to break their "duck" through Choy coming home. He was walked and H. Sling advanced him to third and got home when T. Chinn was nailed at first.

The sailors were held down on the fourth and fifth frames, but in the sixth, they began their rapid firing. Musselwhite fled. Hagwood got in a safe hit and landed at first. Danielson advanced him and when Lindemuth gave a three base hit, Hagwood and Danielson came home. Nary brought Lindemuth home and Lanza brought Neary home before he was caught out. Keary then nearly duplicated his home run in the first inning and got a triple. McGovern brought him home and Marlowe Texas leagured over to right field for another homer incidentally bringing McGovern home from third.

This stanza was a merry-go-round and no fewer than seven runs were garnered, one of which was a home run by Marlowe.

The Chinese were prevented from scoring and had to leave the field with the run they got in the third. June took a turn as a pitcher and did not do so badly. Although he only struck out two men, his deliveries were so soft that several of the sailors fell into the trap and hit out only to get fled.

Hagwood the Sacramento pitcher was rather off colour in the first four innings. He managed, however, to strike out five men and walked one on pitched ball.

The line-up and scores were as follows:

"SACRAMENTO."	S.C. DRAGONS.
Lanza	2b. W. Sling
McGovern	1st. T. Chinn
Marlowe	c. K. Chinn
Musselwhite	l.f. Lau
Hagwood	p. D. Chinn

Saturday's Game.

In their game against the Filipinos, the Hong Kong Baseball Club opened very well in the first inning when they made three runs, one of which was a home run by Bursick.

When the Filipinos went into bat, Bursick was in top form and his deliveries fanned two out of the four batters that stood up against him. The Filipinos were sent out to field with registering a single run.

In the second frame, the local Americans made another run through Muccio coming home from a double by Lammert. The Filipinos, not to be outdone, scored a homer through Alvers which was a replica of the one made by Bursick—a stiff bingle over short.

The third stanza saw both teams draw a blank, and the Ball Club had the misfortune to draw another blank in the fourth canto. It was in this canto that the Filipinos started out to win the game—not without the help of a flock of errors. The local Americans went to pieces, and errors were plentiful. The winning team secured no less than 4 runs in the frame.

In the fifth the Ball Club drew another blank, but the Filipinos piled up another four runs. The same number of runs were added to their lead in the sixth. In the seventh and last inning, the local Americans made a really big effort to equalize. The tightened up their cordon and all played to a man, but unfortunately their efforts were rewarded with only three runs.

On the whole the game was a most amusing and friendly one. There was plenty of razzing, but this was done in such a friendly spirit that both teams took it with broad smiles. A handful of American (Continued on next column.)

sailors largely contributed to the mirth by their humorous and witty remarks. Lammert's red sock came in largely for criticism, and Bursell was described as "having more gear than Lindebergh on his world flight." Ruffin the pitching ace for the Ball Club was called Lulu in a most affectionate way.

Spectators as well as players were highly amused by the remarks from the ring and the losing team said that although they lost the game through their own errors, they had nevertheless enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

The line-up and scores were as follows:

H.K.B.C.	FILIPINOS.
Proulx	3b. D. Leonard
Bursell	c. Y. Hachima
Ruffin	p. Zafra

SECOND DIVISION GAMES.

In the second division, the St. Joseph's College Baseball team defeated the Young Men's Baseball Club by 23 to 10 runs on Saturday.

Yesterday the South China Juniors met and defeated the Kioras by six runs against 4.

FILIPINOS AND DRAGONS TO REPLAY.

The Committee of the Hong Kong Baseball Association having upheld the protest of the Filipino Baseball Club, the game between this team and the South China Dragons will be replayed. The protest, it will be remembered, arose out of the umpire awarding a run to the Dragons when the third man was put out at first base on Saturday before last.

The Filipinos outfit has therefore lost no game this season and if they succeed in beating the Dragons in the replay, their chances of winning the shield will be considerably strengthened.

SECRET OF THE SEA.

BORNEO NATIVES VENERATE OLD ANCHOR.

H.M.S. "HERALD'S" DISCOVERY.

The following letter was written by the Captain of H.M.S. Herald to the British North Borneo Herald, regarding the anchor on Manglung Island which is situated about forty miles west of Jesselton and is included in the Chartered Company's Territory. It would be interesting to hear any views as to how this anchor got to its present resting place, or connected with its origin:

I have the honour to forward for your information, as a matter of local interest, the following details regarding an old anchor on Manglung Island, which was recently visited by officers of this ship.

The anchor lies in the jungle about 220 yards almost due North from the point at the S.W. corner of the island. It is not easy to find as the jungle here, though not very dense, is composed of young saplings and is difficult to see through; it presents no great obstacle to walking, however. About 100 yards from the anchor, nearer the beach, is a large ant-hill which serves as a guide to finding the way.

The anchor lies flat on the ground, half buried in the grey sand; it is 7 feet 3 inches long and 8 feet 7 inches across the arms. It is apparently of wrought iron and must at one time have had a wooden stock, nothing of which remains. The flukes have both been cut off and there are two deep cuts made with some blunt instrument, about 1 inch deep and 2 inch wide, one on the shank near the stock and the other on one of the arms.

The shank of the anchor lies almost due North and South, the crown to the North. There are no marks or letters visible on it.

The anchor would appear to be held as an object of veneration by the local inhabitants; the ground round it is carefully cleared of weeds and the sand smoothed, forming a circle about 12 feet in diameter. Some rice bowls, and a soup plate of European pattern, with betel nuts and articles of native food have been placed near it, evidently intended as offerings. The spot is marked by sticks about 3 feet strengthened.

Shipping News

Week-End Statement, Waterfront News, Vessels Expected, etc.

WEEK-END FREIGHT RETURNS.

LOCAL IMPORTS FAIR.

THROUGH FREIGHTS VERY GOOD.

The amount of general merchandise, discharged at Hong Kong during the week-end was only fair, but cargo for ports beyond was well above the average. The shipping figures remained good with twenty-eight arrivals and thirty-three departures for the week-end. Only one British ship arrived in port on Saturday but cargoes discharged and carried by British ships during the week-end were very good.

Saturday's Statement.

With twelve arrivals and fourteen departures the general imports were low. Six vessels, of which only one was British, carried an average of over 4,000 tons per vessel for through ports.

Nine vessels discharged goods for this port amounting to 6,355 tons, and one British ship, the s.s. Nankin had 45 tons for this port. The best returns were shown by the s.s. Thimpo (Norwegian) with 3,555 tons of coal from Chingwangtao and the s.s. President Garfield (U.S.A.) from San Francisco and Shanghai with 1,638 tons of general.

Six vessels carried 25,333 tons of through cargo, of which the s.s. Nankin was the only British vessel. However, this vessel was best carrier with 3,780 tons of general cargo from Kobe and Shanghai.

The second best carrier was the s.s. Seiga Maru, with 4,569 tons.

Yesterday's Figures.

Sixteen arrivals and nineteen departures showed an improvement in the local imports for yesterday 9 a.m. Although through cargoes were not so high as the previous day the figures remained good. There were five British arrivals and departures and the through freights carried by British ships were good. Fifteen vessels had cargo for this port totalling 9,941 tons, and four British ships discharged 2,870 tons. The best carriers were the s.s. Hardrot (Norwegian) with 1,800 tons of general cargo from Bangkok, and the s.s. Kaitu Maru from Wakamatsu with 1,700 tons of coal.

Six vessels had through cargo amounting to 16,371 of which four British ships contributed 6,733 tons. The best carrier was a British ship—s.s. Aeneas from Glasgow and Singapore with 6,132 tons. The s.s. Fulda (German) from Bremen and Manila had 4,903 tons.

SINGAPORE HARBOUR.

ANNUAL REPORT OF MARINE DEPARTMENT.

[BY LONGHOREMAN.]

The annual report of the Marine Department, Straits Settlements, states:—

The total revenue collected in the Colony amounted to $61,811.53 in 1927. The numbers of European and native seamen shipped and discharged were 1,283, 22,376, 1,278 and 21,717, respectively, as against 1,430, 19,972, 1,434 and 19,769, respectively in 1926.

The numbers of European and native seamen who died and deserted were 7, 98, 5 and 22, respectively as against 2, 23, 4 and 19, respectively in the year 1926.

The number of European seamen who obtained certificates of competency under section 22 of Ordinance No. 123 (Merchant Shipping), as Masters and Mates for foreign-going ships was 4 and 5 and the number of native seamen who obtained certificates of competency as Masters and Gunners for local steam vessels was 3 and 5 respectively; and as helmsmen eleven.

The number and tonnage of all vessels, i.e., merchant-vessels, native-craft, men-o-war, etc., entered and cleared at the five ports of the Colony during the year 1927 were 91,119 and 42,617,239 being an increase of 1,908,250 tons as compared with the year 1926.

S.S. "Cape Lay" Sunk Off

Haiphong River.

It is stated that wireless message received by steamer from the Saigon Naval station on July 19th, report that the Chargeurs Reunis steamer, Cape Lay was driven on to the rocks at the entrance of the Haiphong River during a typhoon. The boilers exploded and the vessel sank. At the time of the disaster there were 250 persons on board, and of these a number are said to have been drowned.

If it is true that the boilers exploded it is almost certain that loss of life must have been sustained in the stokehold and engine room. At the moment no official reports are available in Singapore. The agents of the company, the successors of Moine Comte, Ltd., are unable to supply any further detail beyond the fact that the vessel is a total loss.—Straits Times.

90,000 Cases Of Oil.

The American s.s. Archer (tonnage 4,872) arrived here yesterday from New York and Iloilo with 80,000 cases of oil. Her master is Captain W. Sahfeldt.
